

Emma was honored for her honesty. Emma found a wallet in her classroom and made the connection that it belonged to a parent who volunteered at the school's Pumpkin Palooza. She turned the wallet into her teacher, who returned it to the owner. Thank you and Good Job, Emma.

Samantha was honored for her honesty. She found $40 cash on the school campus floor without any identification attached. Samantha turned the money into the office and the rightful owner was found, who happened to be a fellow student who was celebrating a birthday.